'Big Mountain'

This scene, entitled "Big Mountain," won Len Derby of Missoula first prize in the college student division of the state-wide photo contest.

Derby Wins in College Division of Photo Contest

Frank Zubick, Butte, won second place with his picture "Coastline." He will receive $10 in merchandise from the McKay Art Company.

George Gresh, Helena, was awarded the top prize of the contest for his picture entitled, "Negro Farmer." His picture was judged best in the show after being selected as the best non-professional picture. He will receive $30 worth of merchandise from the AMC Photo Shop, Bozeman, and a $25 cash prize from the Western Montana State Radio club, Missoula.

First place in the high school division went to LaDonna Rognlie, Kalispell, for her picture entitled, "Simple Life." She will receive an engraved trophy from the Montana Photographers' association. Second place was won by Skulason Moe, Missoula, with a picture called "Still Life." He will receive a leather gadget bag from the Missoula Drug company.

Adult Amateurs

Robert M. Lober, Missoula, won the first-place trophy in the adult amateur division with his picture, "Boxer." Second-place winner was "Portrait of Shirley," by Al Ham, Missoula. He will receive a light meter from the Smith Drug store, and $6 worth of flashbulbs from the Missoula Mercantile company. Third place among the adult amateurs went to Rose Wallach, Helena, for a picture entitled, "Home."

A. P. Block, Billings, won the two top awards in the professional division. His picture, "Daybreak," won him first-place trophy, and a photo entitled, "Hi There," was awarded second place, and a $5 merchandise order from Briscoe's Campus Camera shop. "My Dog and I," by John M. West, Columbus, received third place.

Co-Sponsors

Co-sponsored by the School of Journalism and the Montana Photographers' association, the exhibit received 183 entries from all parts of Montana. The winners will be included in a permanent traveling exhibit to be displayed at different towns in the state.

The entries were judged by Robert M. Catlin, Missoula, a former president of the Montana Photographers' association; Victor Guest, Kalispell, a member of the board of directors of the association, and O. J. Bue, journalism school professor.

Hot Spell May Cause Floods in Northwest

Washington, May 10.—(UP)—The Interior department warns that a definite flood threat exists throughout the Pacific Northwest. Officials say that a sudden and prolonged warm spell might send the Columbia river or its tributaries over their banks.

The Interior department says that mountain streams in the Pacific Northwest have not yet started to rise, but that the total volume of the spring runoff is expected to be large because of the high water content of this year's snowpack.

RMIPA Convenes For Three-Day Publications Meet

Student newspapers, yearbooks, and literary magazines will begin a three-day verbal workout today as the annual Rocky Mountain Intercollegiate Press association convention gets underway.

About 50 delegates, representing student publications at eight western schools, are expected for the opening sessions.

Discussion session schedule: Newspaper—Journalism 211, 8-10 p.m. Thursday, 10-12 a.m. and 1-5 p.m. Friday, and 9-12 a.m. Saturday.

Literary—same hours as above, in Journalism 306.

Yearbook—same hours as above, in Journalism 106.

Edward B. Dugan, associate professor of journalism, will open the convention with the keynote address in the Gold room of the Student Union at 2 p.m. Herbert Wunderlich, dean of students, and James L. C. Ford, dean of the School of Journalism, will also speak.

On the convention agenda are tours of local newspaper and radio stations, a mixer in the Student Union ballroom at 3 o'clock today, and a banquet Saturday night.

Hiram McDonald, Utah State, is the president of RMIPA. Joan Smith, MSU student from Kalispell, is RMIPA secretary-treasurer. Bill Smurr, Sacramento, Calif., is convention manager.

DeJarnette Wins Contest

Monroe DeJarnette, Missoula, won the first place award of $50 Tuesday in the Music club's original composition contest.

DeJarnette's composition of "Quartet in Four Flats" was judged the winning piece. It was written for the flute, French horn, and two clarinets.

Second place in the contest, which was held in Main hall, was won by Bill Simmons, Hardin, with a composition for tenor voice and string quartet. It was entitled "Be Still." He received $25.

The $10 third place award was split by Hal Harvey, Billings, and Fred Nelson, Anaconda. Harvey's composition was for five B-flat clarinets and Nelson's was for a trumpet quintet.

Other compositions entered were trumpet quartet by Jay Burchak, Stanford, and a symphonic poem for clarinets, oboes, French horns, and cellos by Buzz Brusletten, Billings.

The symposium is sponsored by the Music club to encourage creative writing among the students. Entries need not be by music majors.

The awarding of prizes will be May 24, at the Sinfonia American Music concert. Judges were Robert Sutton, instructor; Eugene Andrie, assistant professor, and Robert Stroetz, instructor, all of the music school.

CONVO TOMORROW

Junco hall will stage tomorrow's convo, Edmund L. Freeman, chairman of the public exercises committee, announced.

The program will be built around a television show theme, and Art Lundell, Milwaukee, Wis., will act as master of ceremonies.

Debate Cut .6 Per Cent In ASMSU Budget Revise

A revised 1950-51 ASMSU budget will be presented to Central board at its special meeting today at 3 p.m. in the Eloise Knowles room of the Student Union.

The budget and finance committee announced the recommendation last night after two and one-half hours of discussion.

The new proposal, reached by a unanimous vote of the committee, involves a cut in the debate appropriation of .6 per cent and an increase of .3 of the intramural percentage.

The first budget presented at last Tuesday's Central board meeting included a .9 per cent cut for debate and a .6 increase in intramurals.

The new proposal has not met with approval from the debate group. Jerry Baldwin, president of Tau Kappa Alpha, debating honorary, said last night, "It seems the budget and finance committee has given us a peanut measure in order to get us off their backs. If the new recommendation of the board goes through, we will have to obtain money from other sources. We believe that 3 per cent of the ASMSU budget is the honest minimum we must have in order to maintain our program."

Dave Freeman, chairman of the budget group, stated that the committee discussed six measures which they consider feasible, but which they are not recommending. In the event Central board rejects the new proposal, action on those measures may be taken.

The measures include reducing the general reserve, cutting the publicity travel fund, cutting the outside entertainment percentage, eliminating the outside entertainment appropriation, revising the student accounting department policy, and leaving debate at 2.1 per cent with the guarantee of support from the board to the extent of $500 to $800 in the event the debate team qualifies for the national contest next year.

Indian Skeletons Found in Flathead Region

Four skeletons of long-buried Indians were found Saturday in the Flathead lake region by Carl I. Malouf, assistant professor of anthropology, and 17 members of a class studying the archeology of Montana.

Of the four skeletons found near the town of Dayton, one, that of a female, was found to be in excellent condition after being buried over 300 years. When uncovered in a pile of rocks three feet deep in the earth, the female skeleton was lying on her chest with the legs in a folded position beneath her body.

Tools Found

With the uncovered remains were found stone scrapers, hide scrapers used to scrape the hide off animals, a few small deer horns, some tiny shell beads, and a gaming tool.

According to Professor Malouf, the woman was about 50 or 55 years old. The approximate age can be determined by the sutures of the skull and the condition of the teeth.

One interesting discovery was made when the Indian woman's femur bones were compared. One was found to be normal but the other was deformed and almost unrecognizable. Professor Malouf is of the opinion that the woman was a victim of a disease.

When examining the mouth, it was found that the wisdom teeth as well as one molar had been pulled. This fact was verified by checking where the teeth should have been; the jaw had grown over the holes.

Others Unearthed

Shortly after the discovery of the first skeleton, a second was found nearby. Later, two more were unearthed.

The class worked on an Indian village which existed around 1750. The town was formerly located where Dayton creek drains into Flathead lake. Here the class uncovered many arrowheads and glass beads.

Unearthings have also been made close to the northeast corner of the lake around Big Fork. More arrowheads and stone implements were found in this area.

Saturday's trip was the most successful taken in the two years that they have been working around that region, Professor Malouf said.

AKP Will Initiate Seven New Members

Initiation of seven new members into Alpha Kappa Psi, professional businessmen's fraternity, will take place at 5:30 today at the Florence hotel, according to Jim Lucas, Miles City, president.

Those initiated will be John Brownlee, Stanford; Dean Ambrose, Dillon; Leslie Campbell, Billings; Bill Tait, Missoula; Ted Saunders, Bozeman; Nelson Tappin, Stevensville; and Bill Noland, Missoula.

The ceremony will be followed by a short business meeting and a banquet for all members at 7 p.m. Frank Cleland, local manager of the American Crystal Sugar company, will be guest speaker.

The local chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi placed sixth in the nation in an efficiency contest sponsored by the national fraternity. This rating is done on the basis of the service by the chapter to the university, the number of pledges taken, and the research projects completed.

House Slashes Spending Bill $600 Million

Washington, May 10.—(UP)—The House has passed a 1951 fiscal omnibus spending bill calling for more than $28,894,000,000.

The bill was passed by the House 360 to 21 tonight after it agreed to a last-minute slash of $600 million which would cost thousands of federal workers their jobs.

The single-package money bill, which carried funds to run the government in the new fiscal year starting July 1, now goes to the Senate. It does not include funds for foreign aid or fixed charges such as interest on the national debt.

Besides the Republican-sponsored $600 million cut, the house directed federal agencies to fill only 10 per cent of the jobs that become vacant during the next 12 months. Sponsors estimate this might save another $500,000.

The job limitation probably is the most drastic ever voted by a house of Congress. It is in addition to a personnel cut of about 10 per cent which was included in the $600 million slash.

It is estimated that the amendment, sponsored by Rep. John Taber (R) New York, would cost the jobs of 150,000 employees, including 130,000 in non-military agencies and 20,000 in defense agencies.

Freed Fliers On Way Home

London, May 10.—(UP)—Two American fliers held prisoner in Red China for 19 months are reported en route home tonight.

The Chinese Communist news agency says the two men released from a Red prison camp this week have sailed from Red-held Tsingtao aboard the steamer Hunan.

Navy flier William Smith of Long Beach, Calif., and Marine Master Sgt. Elmer Bender of Cincinnati were seized by the Chinese Communists more than 18 months ago. They were put in a prison camp after their light plane crashed in Red territory.

Tonight New Head Frosh Honorary

an Knight, Hamilton, was elected president of Alpha Lambda Psi, freshman women's scholarship organization, at a meeting yesterday in the New Hall lounge. Gwen Hunter, Darby, was chosen vice-president; Reba Turnquist, Ronan, secretary; Stella Critelli, Billings, treasurer; and Gloria Johnson, town, historian.

rs. Theodore Smith, faculty member, announced that she would be unable to continue in that capacity. A faculty adviser, senior member, and junior adviser will be elected at the next meeting.

Outgoing officers are Evelyn S. Thompson Falls, president; Ma Fleschman, Dutton, vice-president; and Jewel Beck, Ronan, secretary-treasurer.

TOMORROW, NOT TODAY

A meeting of students and people interested in organizing a chapter in Missoula of the Pacific Northwest will be held Friday at 7:30 p.m. instead of Thursday as reported in yesterday's edition, according to Sheldon Wal-

'If This Be Treason. . .'

College women in Montana are spoiled.

Quickly we must add that this does not mean they are in a state of decay. No: most of them are, in fact, in bouncing good health. The "spoiled" rather characterizes their attitude toward men.

This is our sad conviction, arrived at in both moments of spurned melancholy and calm consideration: college women in this state overrate their own merits, both as persons and women.

Not all Montana college women, it might be added, but enough of them to make the uncomfortable generalization adhere.

This is due to a number of things.

First, it is but a magnification of the general drift of American womanhood. Those overseas veterans who entered into relations with foreign women with something more than a desire to settle a gnawing of the moment often found them superior. They said foreign women did not imagine themselves the precious, coy, demanding goddesses American women did.

Second, Montana has one of the highest male-per-female ratios in the nation; a number of years ago it was reliably shown to be the highest. The 1950 census will show how it now stands.

This condition does not commensurate with the best in relationships, for obvious reasons. It breeds a lop-sided competition.

Third, Montana is a relatively newly peopled state. Women here are still halfway held in that sticky, quasi-chivalrous regard that haunted the frontier when women were few.

Fourth, Montana women have drunk just enough of the cup of independence given American women early in the century to make them the more fractious. They have, more so than their sisters elsewhere in the country, acknowledged the freedom and opposed the responsibility.

We don't know how many male Montanans now going to college out of state we have talked to on the subject of Montana college women—it must be close to a hundred. To reveal the percentage that thought Montana college women inferior to those in more populous grounds would be a statistical slap-in-the-face we don't quite feel up to delivering.

Perhaps the overall hard-to-get-ism of these women is due in part to the scarcity of men during the late unpleasantness. Perhaps it is a reaction—an overplayed and unwelcome reaction, we might add—to the relative abundance of men. Perhaps it is due to some deeper psychological factors.

But the women in Montana colleges—and more the women of the nation—must come soon to realize there aren't enough men left to go around, looking at the national picture. The simple mathematics of the thing deny the "For every man, there's a woman" sort of thing. Look magazine, reporting in the naively banal manner only it can pull off, said as much some months ago.

The next issue saw a letter from one of those pressure-lipped woman advertising executives raising the roof about Look and its statistics. She said she wasn't worried about getting a mate—she had her career. And well she might not worry. If I recall correctly, Look did not include but a small number of career women in compiling the figures. She was given at best an outside chance, even if she wanted a mate.

So take heed, my friends, if you eventually want to wind up with a husband. Don't be so hard-to-get, changeable, demanding, expensive, faithless, withdrawn, irresponsible, coy, remote, and irresponsible. Then the statistics may take care of themselves.

But if, in the twilight years, your scrapbooks are hope chests, don't say you weren't warned.—C.N.

Stay-Home Army Job Available

Join the Army and stay home. This may be a paradoxical statement, but M/Sgt. Milton R. Fisher, in charge of local recruiting for the Army and Air force, said yesterday that it's true.

Uncle Sam's army has two openings for jobs in Missoula. The remuneration will be full-grade pay plus quarters and rations. The applicants must have clerical ability (i.e., MOS numbers 055, 405, or 502), must have two years overseas service, and must have returned from overseas within the last 18 months. Fisher said that

Bulletin for Summer Quarter Is Ready

Walter R. Ames, professor of education, has announced that MSU preliminary bulletin for summer session, 1950, is available. Ames said that the preliminary bulletin may be picked up in Education-203.

The bulletin contains the summer session calendar, gives information about the regional roundup, the music program, programs for teachers and ministrators.

Navy veterans meeting these requirements are eligible to also.

Letters to the Editor . . .

ARE CENTRAL BOARD'S APPORTIONINGS WHACKY?

Dear Editor:

The article in Tuesday's Kaimin regarding the apportioning of available funds among the various activities was very enlightening to say the least, but I cannot say that I was pleased with the revelations therein.

I had always entertained the stupid opinion that the main function of a university was to impart knowledge, and that raising a football team came second. Yet here is Central board whacking hell out of the already comparatively small allotment for debate in order that the more glamorous activities might survive.

Debate would seem to be among the most valuable of educational activities, but I cannot say the same for most sports, especially the way they're run these days. Personally, if I ever have offspring to send to school, they are going where education is given preference.

Another amusing bit of reading was that concerning ACM's action in refusing further to sponsor student activities because some hog tried to get his nose too deep into the swill bucket. Aesop may have written a fable along those lines. It would bear looking into.

As for Bob Anderson's statement that he would not walk across the street to see a debate, I'm sure I don't know who cares; but in reply I might say that many people here would not turn and look out of the window to see him play football or whatever he plays.

Sincerely,
Robert W. Maxwell.

Barber of Seville' Cast Express Opera Feelings

BY JEWEL BECK
While the members of the cast are stretching their vocal chords in preparation for the opening night of "The Barber of Seville" Tuesday night, they took out to express their feelings about the opera and what students expect to see in the way of entertainment.

Colleen Haag
I have always dreamed of singing a role such as Rosina has in "Barber of Seville," said Colleen Haag, Missoula. "Because this is my first musical, I feel especially to be able to work on such outstanding opera."

SER NEW LEADER PHYS ED GROUP
Carol Fraser, Billings, was elected president of the Physical Education Majors and Minors club meeting Tuesday night. Beverly Madson, Billings, was elected vice-president and the secretary-treasurer post was filled by Margaret Dunbar, Forsyth. Jeanne Parmeter, Plains, past president, announced that plans have been made for the sunrise breakfast June 2 in honor of the school's graduating members.

Haag feels that her childhood background is largely responsible for her love for music. Miss Haag, who also appeared in the Masquers' production, "There Shall Be No Night," is a senior in the music school.

Neil Dahlstrom
The arrival of the stork and the opening night of "The Barber of Seville" are two important events which are running a race in the home of Neil Dahlstrom, Missoula, who stars as Figaro in the opera to be presented next week.

"The part of Figaro presents quite a challenge vocally," said Dahlstrom, "and requires much more technical knowledge than I had ever imagined. But under the excellent direction of John Lester and LeRoy Hinze, we are going to have a show here next week."

A junior music major, Dahlstrom played the Mock Turtle in "Alice in Wonderland" last spring.

Lane Justus
Although some Americans erroneously regard all opera as "long-haired," Lane Justus, Bozeman, reported that it is not all a joke.

Justus, who plays Fiorello in this Rossini comic opera, feels uncomfortable because he cannot get his wig clipped until after the show is over.

"The makeup staff wants our hair to grow so they won't have to color the hair line so deeply," he said.

Cast as Tweedledum in the Masquers' production, "Alice in Wonderland," Justus, a sophomore music major, was director of a men's choir while stationed at the Navy base in Treasure Island, Calif.

Vern Johnson
Making his debut on the university stage next week will be Vern Johnson, Hilger, in the role of Officer of the Guard. Johnson believes he has gained much from working with the leading characters in the show, who have made the long hours much shorter because of their enthusiasm, he said. Johnson is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and is a sophomore in the music school.

Military Academy Exams in July

Civil Service examinations for designation of men to the United States military academies for entrance in July, 1951 will be given July 17, 1950, according to Congressman Mike Mansfield.

Cities that the examinations will be given in are Billings, Bozeman, Butte, Glasgow, Glendive, Great Falls, Havre, Helena, Kalispell, Lewistown, Miles City, Missoula, and Plentywood.

Any man who is a resident of the first congressional district of Montana, interested in trying for an appointment to either West Point or Annapolis, should notify Mansfield prior to June 5. All necessary details regarding the examination and qualifications for entrance into the academies will be sent upon receipt of applications.

Mansfield said that the contestants will be selected for the academy appointments according to the grades they make on the examination.

PX Plans Probe Of Crystal Ball

Psi Chi members are going to dig under the surface of charlatanry in the near future and find out what all is in the fortune teller's crystal ball—or what all is not, Tom Wickes, Missoula, president, said yesterday.

In this week's meeting which saw Maude Parker, Missoula; Mary Kelley, Helena; Jesper Jensen, Copenhagen, Denmark; and Don Lucas, Harlowton, initiated into the psychology honorary, members made tentative plans for an investigation of the basis and use of charlatanry.

Findings of the group will be employed by Psi Chi when it stages its own demonstration of charlatan techniques later in the quarter.

Activities of the honorary are not designed only for revealing the tricks of the charlatan's trade or the various aspects of alcoholism—another subject due for Psi Chi study, Wickes said, but also for drumming up interest in psychology and creating an understanding of the subject.

With a small, interested, and active organization which requires a minimum of 12 credits in psychology, a 2.0 average in all psychology subjects, and a 1.5 over-all grade average for membership, Psi Chi hopes to create and stimulate that interest and understanding in part, Wickes stated.

He added that members will be contacted soon about a picnic.

Model Built for University Museum

Two students will soon present a constructed model of the El Castillo Temple to the university museum in the journalism school, Carling I. Malouf, assistant professor of anthropology, said Tuesday.

The model, built by Richard Forbis, graduate assistant in sociology and social administration, and Leonard Welke, Monroe, N. Y., closely resembles the ancient temple at Chichen Itza in Yucatan, Central America.

Forbis and Welke, who were enrolled in the anthropology of South America class, constructed the model in 40 hours. Rooms, which were used over 400 years ago in the original temple for sacrificial purposes, have been constructed in detail by the pair.

RMIPA meet starts today.

Entries Received From 89 Schools

Entries have been received officially from 89 Montana high schools for the interscholastic meet here, May 19 and 20, according to J. W. Howard, director of the meet.

This number does not include schools who are entering in the journalism competition at the meet and Howard expects more entries to come in today.

About 1,400 students are expected to actively compete in the meet. All 16 Class A Montana high schools have entered teams in track and field competition. Schools are limited to 10-member squads in track and field events.

Other divisions of the meet are debate, declamation, oratory, dramatics, tennis, golf, extemporaneous speaking, and journalism.

Convo tomorrow.

Forester, Corbin, Rows Are Tuesday's Winners

Three intramural softball games were played Tuesday with the Foresters triumphing over the Phi Deltis, Corbin over the Independents, and the Row houses over Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

The Foresters squeezed by the Phi Deltis, 9 to 8, in the Clover bowl. Mellgren, Forester, got the only homer of the afternoon. The Phi Deltis led the Foresters until the fifth when McInroe, pitcher, blew up. White took over to put the fire out but the damage was already done.

Bishop's three-bagger in the sixth for the Row houses was the deciding factor in their skirmish with the SAE's on the practice field.

The final score was 5 to 4 in favor of the Row houses. Both teams played good ball and made few errors.

In spite of four-baggers by Independents A. Anderson and Stelling, Corbin came out on top with a 15 to 12 victory in the Clover bowl.

The Corbinites came from behind after trailing the Independents in the first two innings. Two base hits in the third started Corbin rolling and the Independents were unable to keep up.

Four innings of misery were dealt to Sigma Nu by Jumbo in their battle in the Clover bowl Monday. Officials stopped the game after the fourth inning when the score was 18 to 2 in favor of Jumbo.

Jumboites Keenan, Russell, McCloskey, and Jurovich took batting honors with their homers. They knocked two Sigma Nu pitchers out of the box. Bottomly homered for Sigma Nu.

Sigma Chi trounced Corbin 22 to 0 in a four-inning game last Friday in the Clover bowl.

Two homers by McVey and another by Smith of the Sigma Chi team clinched the contest.

Polson Is Site For Annual Golf Tourney

The annual intramural golf tournament will begin on the Country club course at Polson Saturday, May 13, at 8:30 a.m.

Dave Cole, intramural director, said that 70 entries from 14 different campus organizations have been received. This heavy registration necessitates an early start.

Any contestant who desires transportation to Polson may register at the Physical Education office in the gym today. Students who are driving to Polson and will have room for riders should notify Mr. Cole.

All contestants are asked to pay their green fees to the secretary in the Physical Education department not later than Friday afternoon. The usual fee at Polson is $1.

Several prizes are to be awarded. They include a team trophy for the winning team, individual medals and certificates for low scorers, which are awarded by the National Golf foundation of the Athletic Journal, and several special prizes for outstanding performances during the 18-hole test.

A prize will be awarded to the golfer having the low total on three different holes which will be chosen at random before the meet by the judges. The golfer with the longest drive on one given hole will also win a prize.

Cheerleader Tryouts Scheduled for Today

Cheerleaders for the 1950-51 season will be chosen today at 4 p.m. in the Student Union Gold room, Gene Kallgren, Butte, traditions board chairman, announced.

"Only a handful have tried out so far," Kallgren said. "If students don't turn out, we cannot have any cheerleaders next year." He emphasized that they will be picked on potential abilities.

Anyone from the freshman, sophomore, or junior classes is eligible to compete. Students may try out individually or in groups, but traditions board will pick them on an individual basis, Kallgren revealed.

Hubbard Sets 1950 Schedule

A schedule of four Pacific coast conference games and contests with five other strong western schools has been announced by MSU director of athletics Clyde Hubbard.

The 1950 schedule for the Grizzlies is as follows:

Eastern Washington, at Cheney, Sept. 23.
University of Idaho, at Moscow, Sept. 30.
University of Oregon, at Eugene, Oct. 7.
Washington State college, at Missoula, Oct. 14.
Montana State college, at Butte, Oct. 21.
Oregon State college, at Corvallis, Oct. 28.
College of Puget Sound, at Missoula, Nov. 4.
Utah State, at Missoula, Nov. 18.
Pepperdine college, at Los Angeles, Dec. 1 (tentative).

MSU has also been signed for a 1954 game with the University of Iowa, Hubbard said. It will be the first time Montana has played a member of the Big 10 conference. The game is scheduled for Iowa City, on Oct. 2, 1954.

Friends—

We are changing our square dance schedule to Tuesday nights because we feel that square dancing on a "full stomach" is strenuous exercise.

Drop in Tuesday night, 9-12, with the gang for a full session of square dancing to the music of ORVIE MACHIN AND HIS WESTERNERS with WIN HUNT calling.
